ADDRESS OF PRESIDENT WARNER.*

Mr. President, and Gentlemen of the American Colonization Society :

Doubtless the occasion on which you have come together to-day is one of thrilling interest to every philanthropist present. It dates the semi-centennial existence of an institution, which, fifty years ago, entered upon the prosecution of an enterprise which has already achieved much, and is destined to revolutionize for good an entire continent. A period of fifty years in the age of a nation just beginning its career is short, when compared with the object it has in view and the length of time such an organization is expected to exist; but when viewed in connection with a private association, such as your Society is, it occupies in the catalogue of dates a high and prominent place.

Perhaps the pages of modern history contain a record of no beginnings so small, instruments so weak, and wielded by a power so feeble, that have, in the same time, accomplished more than the Society has through its African colonization scheme. This remark should be regarded as neither boastful and extravagant on the part of Liberia, nor enthusiastic and exaggerative in favor of the Society. It is rather an expression given to convictions which are daily being strengthened and confirmed by the progressive movements, both of the Society and of Liberia, and in which the world itself will concur, when the objects and operations, achievements and prospects of both shall have been thoroughly understood by it.

That there may be brought under view something more of the greatness of the task which the Society imposed upon itself—or will it be as correct to say, that was imposed upon the Society?—when it assumed to found a colony of the American blacks on the West Coast of Africa—this dreaded land—we must take into the account the very limited geographical knowledge it possessed of the country about to be occupied, of the character of the people inhabiting it, the distance of three thousand miles emigrants would have to be transported

COMMON SCHOOLS IN LIBERIA.

At the meeting of the General Missionary Committee of the Methodist Episcopal Church, in 1866, the appropriations for common schools were conditioned as follows, namely:

“These appropriations for common schools are, upon the express condition that the Bishop (Roberts, of Liberia) shall make visitation and inspection of each school, and report to the Board at least every six months, under instructions from the Corresponding Secretary.”

Immediately upon the adjournment of the General Missionary Committee, instructions were sent to Bishop Roberts, not only to visit the schools, carefully inspect them, and report to the Board upon the number and progress of the scholars; but also to report the name of the teacher, the names of the scholars in each school, and the studies pursued by each.

In pursuance of these instructions we have a report from
